"The Time is Right to Make New Friends." If you feel like you have just read a fortune cookie message, you're right! With the NOCALL year underway, this is the time to volunteer for a committee. Serving on a committee offers the opportunity to widen your circle of acquaintances which may result in lasting friendships. But developing professional contacts isn't the only reason to get involved. There are numerous reasons why people volunteer. One is personal satisfaction. By serving on a NOCALL committee you give something back to the organization. Recognition is another reason. By participating in a professional organization you gain recognition among your peers both in NOCALL and at your workplace. Another motivation to volunteer is to broaden your professional background. For example, you may learn more about the internet, advertising, dealing with vendors, publicity, or how a nonprofit organization works by serving on any one of a number of our committees. The committees are vitally important to NOCALL and I urge you to support them. You will find out how much fun you can have when you get involved. Look for the volunteer form and a list of the committees in this newsletter. Most committees still need members.

You may recall that last year’s Executive Board reviewed all resolutions and decisions adopted over the years. It gave us the opportunity to see which ones were no longer relevant or not being enforced. This was a very productive exercise and a good reminder of what NOCALL has accomplished. This year's Board will undertake another review, only this time it is a review of NOCALL's strengths and weaknesses and how the organization can best meet your needs in the future. If you weren't able to voice your ideas and your expectations at NOCALL's first town hall meeting on September 12, it's not too late. Take a moment to fill out the "Value Survey" on page 7, or forward any comments, suggestions and ideas about NOCALL activities to me. I look forward to hearing from you!
MUSINGS FROM MARK
Mark Mackler, Kenney & Markowitz, San Francisco

BY THE TIME YOU READ THIS...Summer will be over. As we begin the "school" year together, maybe this is a good time to pause and reflect on the degree of commitment which you have to the profession. Ask yourself if you are doing all that you can to further your profession and your professional development. If you are satisfied with your level of involvement, that's fine. However, if you want to increase your involvement, one excellent way to do so is to say "Yes" if you are asked to serve on an AALL or NOCALL committee.

DICK BERCIK AND LARRY THOMPSON...retired last month after many decades in the legal publishing biz, and I wish them both the best. When Dick and I last had lunch together he gave me something to think about: Working as a legal publisher's rep or working as a law librarian is a lot like managing a major league sports team. Your bosses really don't care one bit about all the good stuff you've done for them in the past. All they care about is: What have you done for us lately? What have you done for us this season?

CHARLES OGLETREE...the Harvard Law School professor, delivered the keynote address at the American Library Association's Annual Conference in New York. He advised librarians that they must be careful that new developments in information technology do not exacerbate the divisions of class and race that already exist in this country. "The more connected some of us become, the more disconnected most of us become," he observed. Ogletree said that he was deeply involved in the question of access to information because he knew from personal experience what it means to grow up poor and African American. "The consequences are staggering. There are millions who, because of poverty or race, cannot even fathom the dimensions of the information age. Many of the most basic necessities are unavailable to many Americans stuck in poverty. The picture isn't pretty. In countless towns and cities around the country, government scales or shuts down libraries while simultaneously it constructs more prisons with vigor." Later on in his address, Ogletree gave thanks for the librarian who helped him achieve his level of success. "Without Mrs. Friendly, the odds of my being incarcerated in the criminal justice system were much better than the odds of my educating others at Harvard Law School about that system. With the aid and able assistance of Mrs. Friendly, I was able to enter the world of books that challenged my imagination. It was only when Mrs. Friendly tapped me on the shoulder and reminded me that the library would be closing in ten minutes that I returned to the reality of my existence. The public library in my hometown literally saved my life and made a new life of opportunity possible for me."

ANNE BINGaman...Assistant Attorney General for the Justice Department's Antitrust Division announced that she would be resigning in November. She cited "purely personal reasons" for her departure. Janet Reno said, "Mrs. Binghamon made giant strides in promoting competition for the benefit of American consumers and maintaining a level playing field for American businesses." The big area of interest to us, of course, is the West-Thomson deal, and the fact that Justice gave its conditional approval only after Thomson agreed to sell 58 of its publications.

NOCALL News needs a managing editor and an advertising editor. Because of the heavy time commitment involved in producing the newsletter the Board is considering outsourcing its design, printing, production and distribution. The role of the managing editor would be to work with the newsletter committee, including the articles and advertising editors, to solicit articles and coordinate the production of the newsletter. Value Survey

The NOCALL Town Hall Meeting on September 12 elicited valuable feedback in several areas. The discussion of the types of things NOCALL provides and the value our members attach to them was particularly illuminating. At the suggestion of the Town Hall Meeting participants, we decided to broaden the opportunity for feedback by posing the same questions to all our members via this Newsletter survey. Please take a few minutes to read through this list and indicate the value of each item using the following scale: 1=Minimal Value; 2=Moderate Value; 3=Maximum Value.

Please return the survey by October 11 to: Brent Bernau, GGU Law Library, 536 Mission St., San Francisco, CA  94105; or FAX it to: 415-512-9395. If you prefer to respond to the version on the NOCALL-list, please do, but respond only once. Thanks!

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETINGS

Highlights of the NOCALL Executive Board Meeting Minutes
May 8, 1996

The meeting was held at the offices of Baker & McKenzie at 2 Embarcadero Center, S.F. Present were: Donna Purvis, Jo Caporaso, Todd Bennett, Donna Williams, Loretta Sevier and Cynthia Papermaster. Absent was Donna Hughes-Oldenburg. Donna Purvis called the meeting to order at 12:10 p.m.

Loretta is the NOCALL representative of LOSO.

LOSO, in cooperation with the S.F. School Volunteers, has been working with Philip & Sala Burton High School students for the past three years. They interview the students and do a brief orientation of office etiquette.

Many law firms have participated in the program. LOSO placed 18 students last summer and would like to increase that number.

The students would actually be employees of the firm with a minimum $6 per hour charge. The students can participate in any activity the firm sees fit. Employment can be for 2 weeks or 3 months. It is entirely at the firm’s discretion.

Loretta composed a letter to the S.F. members of NOCALL which includes a brochure explaining the program. She will also get in touch with Jenny Wu of Public Relations to post a message on the NOCALL-List serv as well as including a copy of the letter in the next NOCALL News.

After much discussion, it was decided that Academic Relations Liaison’s charge is quiet different from what Loretta is doing. A separate ad hoc committee should be formed.

A motion was passed to form an ad hoc committee called “The Youth Opportunity Committee.” [Resolution 1996-8.]

Loretta also expressed an interest in forming a Pro Bono committee in which NOCALL members could offer library expertise services to various non-profit organizations. The matter will be considered under next year’s Board.

(Exit Loretta and Cynthia.)

Donna presented a draft version of the procedures manual.

The content of each committee’s report will be considered under next year’s Board.

3. Approval of Minutes.

Minutes from the Executive Board meeting of 4/19/96 were approved as submitted.

4. Adjournment.

Donna P. adjourned the meeting at 2:15 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Donna S. Williams, NOCALL Secretary

Highlights of the NOCALL Executive Board Meeting Minutes
July 12, 1996

The meeting was held at the offices of McCutchen, Doyle, Brown & Enersen at 3 Embarcadero Center, S.F. Present were: Jo Caporaso, Brent Bernau, Donna Purvis, Todd Bennett, Marloue Griffiths, Donna Hughes-Oldenburg, Donna Williams, Alice McKenzie & Mark Mackler. Jo called the meeting to order at 12:10 p.m.

1. Welcome & Introductions.

Jo welcomed the new Executive Board and thanked the out going Board for all the work that was accomplished.

2. Approval of Minutes.

Minutes from the Executive Board meeting of 5/8/96 were approved as submitted.

Procedures Manual - Donna W. will have a copy of the manual mailed to Jo so she can present it at the AALL Council of Chapter Presidents meeting on 7/20/96. We are going to have it copied and bound to give to all committee chairs at the NOCALL Planning Meeting in September.

NOCALL at AALL - Jenny Wu is handling the NOCALL activities table at the Annual Meeting.

West Decathlon - We have our team set for the Decathlon. Brent pointed out that the preliminary booklet listed a NOCALL meeting on Monday night, however, it was never set. Jo will send a message to the NOCALL list that there is no meeting scheduled.

Youth Opportunity Committee - Jo reported that Loretta, in cooperation with the Law Office Service Org. (LOS0), placed 19 students in 17 law firms this summer. Various other organizations are supporting the students and Loretta asked if we could donate $50 as well. Since the budget for the upcoming year has not been approved, and this is a new ad hoc committee, a motion was passed to give the Youth Opportunity Committee $50.

SCALL / NOCALL Institute in 1998 - Jo couldn’t get a hold of Dan Martin from SCALL to find out more information about SCALL’s expectations for a joint meeting. Brent will find out more details. Moved to unfinished business.

SFPL Card Catalog & NOCALL Position - The S.F. Board of Supervisors recommended to the Library Commission that the old card catalog be kept for historical purposes. We discussed the situation and concluded that the Board does not have enough information. Mark Mackler will find out more about the situation form Carol Coon, a S.F.P.L. Government Documents Librarian. Moved to unfinished business.

1996 Committee Chair Appointments - Jo reported that all chairs are filled except for the Newsletter Editor and the Education Committee Chair.

Role of “Executive Board Members” - Discussed what role the two new executive board members will take. Todd thought special projects, such as fundraising would be appropriate for them to work on. Alice will work with Marlowe to prepare a list of what NOCALL has to sponsor. It will then be submitted to vendors for them to choose and budget accordingly.

NOCALL Vision for the Future: Planning Meeting, Fall Business Meeting, Executive Board Meeting Schedule - In order to be consistent with Jo’s idea of a NOCALL vision, we discussed holding a Town Meeting to get in touch with what our members want. Mark reported that SLA held a Town Hall Meeting which was very successful. Members had great suggestions and discussed how to attract new members. It was decided to have a Town Hall Meeting at the Fall Business Meeting. The Planning Meeting will be held a week or two afterward to bring in new suggestions and ideas discussed at the Town Hall Meeting.

Treasurer’s Report - Donna H-O. submitted the annual treasurer’s report which had a beginning balance of $20,450.94 on 5/31/95 and an ending balance of $18,258.72 on 5/31/96. She met with an accountant who had several suggestions for us: never forget our nonprofit status, never have over $25,000 in the account, keep a functioning minimum amount and invest the rest in CDUs. The audit came out fine. Donna H-O. suggested that chapter treasurer’s have a preparatory meeting at the AALL Annual Meeting. Jo will bring it up at the Council of Chapter President’s meeting.

Membership Committee Report - Marlowe reported that we have 429 members. Yvonne Boyer is sending out renewal notices soon. Yvonne is checking into in-house desktop publishing.

Union List Committee - The new edition is ready to be sent to the printers. The price will be set after printing and mailing costs are determined.

Network Task Force - Kevin Starr, the State Librarian, is presenting legislation for the Library of California which we will be a part of. The Networking Task Force has been a major player in defining both public and private institutions for the Library of California.

Government Relations Committee - Donna P. reviewed the status of SB 1507. Donna P. also reported on SB 1910 that just appears to have made its way through the legislative process. This bill requires the state to make the California Code of Regulations available on the Internet for free. The committee will monitor it.

5. Announcements.

Dates for the following meetings were set: next Board meeting on August 23; Fall Business Meeting on September 12; Planning meeting on September 21.

6. Adjournment.

Jo adjourned the meeting at 2:10 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Donna S. Williams, NOCALL Secretary

July 16, 1996
SB 1507

As I write this the NOCALL bill, SB1507, has passed in the Assembly by a vote of 73-0, and is going before the Senate for concurrence in Assembly amendments. We are very hopeful that the Senate will concur and the bill will go to the Governor for his signature. The Governor must sign or veto all bills by September 30th this year. While the bill is not as strong as we hoped it would be, it is an improvement, and a dialog has been opened with several State Agencies which we believe will enrich the information we pass on to the Law Revision Commission as they review the Rulemaking process in the coming months.

Many people deserve thanks for the success of this bill, but the two who deserve the most are Carolina Rose and Judy Janes. Carolina, who is the Director of Legislative Research, Inc., was the one who came up with the idea for the legislation, drafted the original language, and has worked tirelessly attending hearings, writing amendments, and recruiting non-law supporters for the bill. Carolina is responsible for the backing of the California Manufacturers Association, which proved crucial in convincing Assembly Republicans to support our bill. Judy Janes, the Associate Director at UC Davis Law Library, agreed early on to work with Carolina on the bill, and has also attended committee meetings, worked on language, and met with agency staffers, and worked on getting support from the legislators. These two have put in HOURS of time on this project and deserve all the praise they can get!

While Carolina and Judy were busy in Sacramento, the rest of us were busy here calling and trying to make sure that each committee member who voted on the bill had a call or letter from a constituent asking for support. The group of callers included Nancy Hoebelheinrich at USF, Donna Purvis at Baker & McKenzie, and myself for the Northern and Central part of the state, and David McFadden from Southwestern for the Southern part of the state. David is the SCALL Government Relations Committee chair, and somehow managed to cover all those people on his own. (We can also thank David's mom who sent a letter to her local Assembly Representative.)

All of us on the committee especially want to thank each of the members of NOCALL, SCALL and California Council of County Law Librarians who took the time to write or call representatives. Your efforts went a long way toward bringing us this far, and hopefully will see us through to the signing of this bill into law. It really took all of us to get this far, and we can be proud of what we have accomplished together.

OTHER BILLS

Though most of our time has been spent on SB1507, NOCALL did send a letter of support for SB1910 (Johannessen) which requires OAL to provide the California Code of Regulations on the Internet after July 1, 1998. This bill did pass and was enrolled on 8/19/96. While we did support the bill, NOCALL affirmed the need for continuing existence of an official printed version to be distributed to County Law Libraries and Depository Libraries. We also suggested that the weekly updates be included in the on-line version, and that tables, indices and a master index on line would be helpful. Unfortunately we were not aware of this legislation soon enough to make suggestions in the language, but we sent a copy of our letter of support and concerns to the Law Revision Commission.

On Sunday, September 1, 1996 David McFadden, Senior Reference Librarian at Southwestern University School of Law Library in Los Angeles, posted the following to law-lib:

Subject: SB1507 Passes Both Houses
The Senate concurred in the Assembly amendments without the need for a conference. The next step is the governor.
NOCALL has just finished its 17th year as a chapter of AALL. NOCALL has grown tremendously over the years, both in terms of size and caliber. The members who volunteer to participate on committees, special projects and the Board truly make a difference and help to shape the future of our chapter. Volunteering is also a great way to meet new friends and colleagues, develop new professional skills and have fun in the process. Please consider sharing some of your time and talent with NOCALL this year!

F. Y. I . . . From the Board:

On August 22, the San Francisco Library Commission's Planning /Policy Commitee recommended, by a unanimous vote, that the card catalogue be preserved, and that it be moved to a location which is accessible to the public. The full Commission will vote on September 3.

In light of this development, your NOCALL Executive Board declined to take a position, but individual NOCALL members should feel free to make their views known to the Library Commission.

Mark Mackler
NOCALL Executive Board Member

Editor's Note: On Tuesday, September 3rd the San Francisco Library Commissioners voted to save the card catalog and all of its cards. Though card catalog supporters remain skeptical, the commissioners are apparently investigating ways to fit the catalog into the New Main Library. See: "Card Catalog Saved - But S.F. Library Not Sure Where to Put it." SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE, September 5, 1996, at A13.

NOCALL/SCALL JOINT INSTITUTE IN '98

A joint 1998 Spring Institute with SCALL has been approved by the NOCALL Executive Board. Preliminary plans are that the event will be held in March in Monterey, that the programs will be planned by a joint committee and that NOCALL will take the lead in making local arrangements, though with significant coordination with SCALL. It is hoped that this will further the goal of greater SCALL/NOCALL interaction, networking and cooperation.

The New York Times observed: "Antitrust experts said that Mrs. Bingaman's activism ran headlong into sweeping changes in the national and global economies that have spurred greater competition, sometimes even as industries consolidated."

COMING IN THE NEXT NOCALL NEWS...You might be the best law librarian in the whole wide world, but do you know what it means to "dodge the bullet"?

What Are You Reading?

By Nora Levine, Crosby, Heafey, Roach & May, Oakland

What do law librarians read when they're not wading through cases, statutes and Witkin? Jo Caporaso wanted to know, and she asked me to oversee an effort to find out, and to share the results with the readers of NOCALL News.

These first contributors were randomly selected. If you'd like to contribute a description of what's currently residing on your reading table, please contact me, Nora Levine, via e-mail at nls@chrm.com. Otherwise, you never know when you might be asked, "What are YOU reading?"

Mary Staats, Farella Braun & Martel

I love reading novels-- a great escape from everything--stress at work, interminable traffic jams, BART delays, etc. In the past couple of weeks I've read two books by Alice Adams, SUPERIOR WOMEN and SOUTHERN EXPOSURE. They were both readable, reasonably enjoyable but certainly not compelling. But last week I read BEACH MUSIC by Pat Conroy and I loved it. The characters seemed real for the most part (you probably have to grow up in a dysfunctional family to agree with me), the writing is good and Conroy goes off on so many tangents one could not possibly become bored.

Virginia Kelsh, USF Law Library

Just finished A CIVIL ACTION by Jonathan Haar. Nonfiction but reads like a suspense novel. Could hardly put it down at night and read into the "wee" hours! It's the inside story of a toxic waste litigation case. Read THE UNBEARABLE LIGHTNESS OF BEING by Michael Kundra while in the Czech Republic this summer- perfect setting for reading this story of characters living in Prague during the Communist take-over in the late sixties - later made into a movie with Daniel Day Lewis. Also read THE FIST OF GOD by Frederick Forsythe on the plane - a suspense thriller set in the days preceding Desert Storm - written by the author of Day of the Jackal, etc. He's got the formula down but it's a good vacation read.

Jacob Koff, Mills Law Library

I am reading STRANGER AT HOME: THE HOLOCAUST, ZIONISM AND AMERICAN JUDAISM. The book is a series of essays by Jacob Neusner, a professor at Brown University. One important theme he explores is the civil and political freedoms enjoyed by Jews in America, and the challenges posed by those freedoms. His other area of inquiry is the way the Holocaust has shaped the views of American Jews toward themselves and the world they live in, despite the fact that the vast majority of Jews have absolutely no first-hand experience with the Holocaust.

Richard Leiter, NOCALL alumnus, Howard University

VIRTUAL LIGHT by William Gibson. He coined the phrase "cyberspace" and is THE cyberpunk guru. If you want to "see" the future of San Francisco, you have to read this book. (The Bay Bridge is abandoned and becomes a squatters' colony.)

CLOCKERS by Richard Price. Pretty depressing, nerve-racking story about crack dealers in New York City. Easily 1,000 times better than the movie.

HUNTER, by E. Jean Carroll, a biography of Hunter S. Thompson. The author is described on the dust-jacket as the "female Hunter S. Thompson!" If I were she, I don't know if I'd take that as a compliment. HST is one weird guy. So weird, in fact that I still believe that most of it is fake. No one could do what he does and live more than a few weeks doing it. I think that he is in reality a teetotaling wimp who goes to elaborate lengths to create a persona that is completely out of control.

NOCALL kindly awarded me a grant to attend this year's AALL conference in Indianapolis. I am grateful to NOCALL for making it possible for me to attend the conference and participate in the activities of our national association. The conference renewed my commitment to our profession's goals of public service and scholarship.

Some of the most memorable workshops at the conference were on the issues of copyright, electronic standards and inflation in legal publishing.

The NOCALL award allowed me to attend the "Electronic Issues in Acquisitions" workshop organized by Cynthia Aniano and Jack Montgomery. Because the handouts for this workshop are not included in the bound proceedings of the conference, I am summarizing this event instead of giving a general report on the conference which would duplicate articles in AALL newsletters.

Anna Belle Leiserson opened the workshop by stating in her talk, "Electronic Sources for Collection Development", that collection development is finally being affected by online services and automation, long after the obvious library functions of circulation and cataloging have been affected. Ms. Leiserson went on to point out that the internet with its emphasis on recent information and electronic communications provides a vast number of resources to keep the collection current. Electronic conferences, current news services, recent book lists and

I can't believe you're going to Indianapolis in the summer." That was the grief that my library friends gave me when I told them that I was going to the 1996 American Association of Law Libraries 89th Annual Meeting in Indianapolis. As it turned out Indianapolis was an excellent host city, the programs were stimulating and the meeting provided opportunities to make and renew friendships with librarians from around the country.

Each day of the convention included twenty-four programs. Most days also started with business breakfasts and ended with several receptions or extra programs. Local law libraries hosted receptions and library tours, AALL organized tours of historic and interesting sites in Indiana and informal meetings happened at several Indianapolis restaurants, museums and microbreweries. Clearly one person could not see and do everything, but one could come away with a lot of useful information and good friends.

Since this was my first time attending AALL's annual meeting I began with the CONELL program (Conference of Newer Law Librarians). CONELL is a full day program where AALL veterans introduce new members to the association. The meeting, held the Saturday before the convention, started with a personal welcome from then AALL President, Pat Kehoe. His talk, and those that followed, gave us some background about the organization and ideas on how to prepare bibliographies, vendor services and book reviews are easier to review through online services.

The second speaker, Brian Quigley of the Jamail Center for Legal Research, described the developments librarians and publisher associations are jointly working out in EDI, electronic data interchange. For more information about this area he recommended starting with David Barber's 1995 article "Electronic Commerce in Library Acquisitions with a Survey of Bookseller and Subscription Agency Services" in 31 Library Technology Report 493-610 and all of volume 10. no. 3 of Library Management.

"Understanding CD-ROM License Agreements" by Norman Desmarais was directed toward academic libraries but still provided a good introduction for any librarians new to this area. Mr. Desmarais reiterated a point made in earlier copyright workshops -- that contract law was supplanting copyright law and fair use practices. CD-ROMs are sold as software and all software is licensed. Licensing is not the same as ownership. Under a licensing agreement, the producer retains the right of ownership and grants permission to use the product under specified circumstances. Desmarais pointed out the tension between librarians and publishers in these contract negotiations. Publishers want to minimize exposure of their products while librarians want to maximize the distribution and use of them. Desmarais warned the audience that the level of competency among producers varies tremendously. Licensing agreements have to be read carefully, occasionally publishers use boiler plate language that is inappropriate to their product. Desmarais briefly described the difficulties in evaluating electronic publications and CD-ROMS for content and price. Publishers segment data by product and market, making comparisons difficult. CD-ROMS may not be equivalent to a print subscription. The price of an electronic product may be greater than the price of the print product because publishers want to recoup not only the traditional costs of authoring and editing, but also for costs unique to electronic publishing, such as production, packaging, software licenses the publisher paid to other providers in order to create the product, and technical support once the product has been distributed.

The last talk was Carol Pitts Diedrichs' "Financial Management Using Electronic Systems." in which she urged acquisitions librarians to become familiar with the accounting information required by their institutions' auditing requirements. Acquisitions librarians should understand where their funding comes from and what restrictions are imposed upon those funds. Funding sources such as grants, endowments and one time gifts often have spending requirements that differ from those of general funds. Ms. Diedrichs closed her lecture by describing the importance of an audit. She urged attendees not to fear an audit, but to use the process as an opportunity either to improve procedures or conform their soundness.

The workshop closed after breaking into discussion groups moderated by the speakers.
I again have to thank NOCALL for making it possible for me to attend such a useful and stimulating conference. The workshops and presentations developed an intellectual framework for the issues that our membership face every day in the workspace. We are fortunate to be members of such a vital and useful profession.

The bound volume of the conference’s handouts is available in the Alameda County Law Library for interested readers to use in the library.

for the meeting. Their advice ranged from serious input about scheduling to an uproarious talk at lunch that included instructions on how to get the most out of the convention's festivities.

By the end of the convention I realized that CONELL had not only introduced me to the organization, it also provided me with opportunities to make friends with other first time members. The value of these friendships was evident every time I went alone to an event and found a fellow CONELL attendee with whom I could talk.

The theme for this year’s convention, “Delivering the Message”, was reflected in programs full of information on a broad spectrum of issues including delivering better reference service, cataloging records, management topics, as well as ideas on how to promote the value of law libraries to patrons.

Although there was no specific keynote address this year, two highlights of the convention were programs evaluating the future of law libraries. Michael Gorman, Richard Danner and Kay Moller Todd headlined a talk on “Future Libraries: Reality and Law Librarians.” The discussion revolved around Gorman’s book Future Libraries: Dreams, Madness, and Reality, in which he and Walt Crawford suggest that libraries not rush to abandon print materials, but instead integrate print and digital information. He pointed out some of the difficulties and drawbacks of abandoning print information sources. He reminded us to preserve print materials that we will not or should not digitize.

The second program highlight was a town meeting moderated by Harvard professor Author Miller. The discussion revolved around the future of law libraries, and the differences among academic, county and private law libraries. This led to discussions about how libraries can work together, the role of the public patron, the issue of downsizing, and the impact of online services.

Of the programs dealing with reference issues one of the best was on solving foreign and international law questions. The moderator posed several difficult reference questions to a panel of research experts. While the panelists all provided valuable insights on how to use print and online tools, they also demonstrated that one of the best sources for this kind of information can be a phone call to a friend or colleague.

While the programs were intellectually stimulating, the social events of the convention were the best places to make valuable professional connections and just good friends. Although you may get to know colleagues professionally, you never really know them until you dance with them or mingle together at the West publishing party, the Moody's party, the opening reception, the association luncheon, the closing banquet, or one of the several other social events. The NOCALL chapter bonded over West's Law Library Decathlon on Tuesday night. Although NOCALL did not win any medals they did win several "moral victories" and had a great time.

My first annual AALL meeting was an informative and entertaining experience that left me feeling more connected to the law library profession and better prepared to work as a law librarian. I am already looking forward to the 1997 convention in Baltimore.

Musical Chairs or The Revolving Door (a.k.a. Membership Changes and Other News)

NOCALL members and former members certainly haven’t been sitting still! During the summer Valarie Gross, left her position as Head Librarian at Bronson, Bronson & McKinnon in San Francisco to take the position of Executive Director of the Mechanics’ Institute Library, also in S.F. The Mechanics’ Institute is a general interest, membership library founded in 1854. Valarie writes of her move:

In a law firm setting, librarians work for their firm’s attorneys and staff; in a general interest library setting, librarians work for a wide variety of patrons. I have discovered that librarians in this setting work as hard as in a law firm. The pressure is definitely different, but equally as demanding. I have been demonstrating that law librarians are capable of moving to a general-interest library, serving lawyers, engineers, architects, medical doctors, small business, entrepreneurs, artist, musicians, students, professors, etc.

Valarie also passed the bar this summer. Congratulations!

Joan Loftus left her position as Computer Services Librarian at Pillsbury, Madison & Sutro in S.F. to take the position of Head Librarian vacated by Valarie Gross at Bronson, Bronson & McKinnon.

Coral Henning has joined the staff of the Sacramento County Law Library as a Reference/Computer Services Librarian. Formerly Coral ran her own business, “Computerized Online Research Assistance Limitless”.

H. Kumar Percy has left the west coast and his position as Circulation Desk Supervisor at Hastings College of the Law for the east coast where he has joined the reference staff of Boston University Law Library.

Gayle O’Connor, former NOCALL and SCALL member has left Brobeck, Phleger & Harrison in San Diego for Forth Worth, Texas where she is now a freelance writer and consultant. She is also the new “Database Report” columnist for LEGAL INFORMATION ALERT.

Marian Shostrom, formerly Public Services Librarian at the University of San Francisco Law Library, has left to become the librarian at McAteer High School in San Francisco. She will maintain her NOCALL membership from her home address: 4 Rossi Avenue, San Francisco, CA 94118.

Carolina Rose, Director of Legislative Research, Inc. in Sacramento, member of NOCALL’s Government Relations Committee and a major force behind SB 1507 wrote a concise summary and chronology of that bill for the SAN FRANCISCO DAILY JOURNAL. See “Law Librarians Sponsor Public Records Bill, Nears Passage,” on page 18 of the August 15, 1996 edition of that paper.

Mary Staats, Chair, Placement Committee
Farella Braun & Martel LLP, San Francisco

Postings Available Online

Serious job seekers now have an electronic alternative to find current job openings. Beginning a couple months ago, Internet Committee Chair Joan Loftus began cooperating with the Placement Committee to post available positions on NOCALL’s Web page. Job announcements are placed on the Web page almost as soon as they are made available to the Placement Committee, and stay on the page for about two weeks. These include both professional and paraprofessional positions.

Anyone with Internet access can check the Web page at any time, night or day. If you’re interested, check it out at: http://lawlib.wuacc.edu/nocall/home.html. In addition, job announcements continue to be posted to the NOCALL-list as they are received. If you don’t already subscribe to that list, it’s easy to do. To subscribe, send a message to: listserv@assocdir.wuacc.edu. Leave the subject line blank, and in the body of the message, type: subscribe nocall-list [your name] (i.e., subscribe nocall-list jane doe). It’s fast, it’s current, and it’ll keep you informed!

Newsletter Postings

Job announcements with closing dates not falling within the publishing cycle of the newsletter have not been included in the newsletter for the past couple of issues. However, since this has had the de facto result of there being no job announcements at all in the newsletter, we’ve decided to follow the lead of the AALL Newsletter. Job announcements are printed there, but they are more for informational purposes—i.e., these are the kinds of positions that have been available recently; these are the kinds of qualifications sought; this is what’s been out there recently; etc.

Standard Procedure

The Placement Committee maintains files of resumes and position announcements for Librarians and Library Assistants. If you are looking for a position, call or e-mail the Chair, above, to learn the details. If you are recruiting for a position, FAX or e-mail a copy of the position to the Chair and he will send you resumes of those looking for jobs. He will also be happy to post your available position on the local and/or national discussion list, the NOCALL Web page and this newsletter.

FAX: (415) 954-4480. Internet: staats@ix.netcom.com

Job Announcements

The following positions have been posted on the NOCALL List during the month of August. To the best of my knowledge, as of August 21st, the positions are still available. If the newsletter is your first notification of these positions, I believe it would be prudent to call first, before sending a resume, to ascertain whether or not the positions are still available. Be sure to check the NOCALL list regularly—new jobs are listed in the subject field as POSITIONS AVAILABLE.
