NOCALL Spring Institute RDA Workshop - April 8th, 2011

Prepared by Kathy Winzer, Catalog Librarian, Robert Crown Law Library, Stanford University.
Email: kwinzer@stanford.edu

TRAINING OPTIONS – (A Very Small Sample)

STANFORD USED:

- Library of Congress freely available presentations, including Train the Trainer Workshop, at:

    http://www.loc.gov/catdir/cpso/RDAtest/rdatraining.html

- Adam Schiff's RDA presentation—several are listed on the page, but Adam told me the last one for the Oregon Library Association Annual Meeting is the most complete and up to date

    http://faculty.washington.edu/aschiff/

OTHER RESOURCES

- Joint Steering Committee's list of presentations page; includes pdfs, Powerpoint, and some video presentations by Barbara Tillett, Judy Kuhagen, Robert Maxwell, and many other RDA experts. A caveat for this page—the presentations are not necessarily up to date—Adam's presentation, for example, is listed there but is not the current version.

    http://www.rda-jsc.org/rdapresentations.html

- Association for Library Collections & Technical Services (ALCTS) RDA Webinars. Not yet listed, but in the works is RDA for Law, tentatively scheduled for November 2, 2011. John Hostage, current AALL representative to CC:DA will present the law rules.

    http://www.ala.org/ala/mgrps/divs/alcts/confevents/upcoming/webinar/cat/rda.cfm

- A unique RDA page by the Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute with many links to all sorts of resources, training and otherwise; illustrated with whatever they could find. The Institute was one of the test participants, and probably the only one using humor to illustrate RDA. The last time I checked this link there was a catalog record for a streaming video of a dance presentation that took place in Second Life. The page is called:

    Resource Description and Access Happy Fun Time Companion (or, in case that doesn't work):

    http://sites.google.com/site/codlinandshort/home

- A Johns Hopkins wiki has helpful information at:

    https://wiki.library.jhu.edu/display/MSELTS/RDA+Training+and+Resources

For the official Joint Steering Committee statement concerning the RDA Test, see:

http://www.rda-jsc.org/rdafaq.html#12

Dave Reser of the Library of Congress provided a lengthy summary of the total records produced in the US RDA Test, Oct. 1-Dec. 31, 2010. Below are the totals taken from the full summary:

	Bibliographic	Authority
Formal common original	1514	1226
Formal common copy	122
Formal extra set	7786	10184
Informal	1148	1390
Totals	10570	12800

Stanford University produced

Formal extra set   464 with surveys   254 authorities with surveys

Informal extra set   561 without surveys   1,273 without surveys

Total Stanford participants: 8 Metadata Unit catalogers, including 1 paraprofessional; 1 music cataloger; 2 law catalogers, including 1 paraprofessional

Stanford did not produce copy cataloging records, since we accept copy as it comes in; that is we do not change AACR2 records to RDA if the record is otherwise acceptable.

Stanford's decisions post-test are documented here:

http://lib.stanford.edu/metadata-departmet/stanford-rda-post-test-stanford-vs-lc-decisions-upd-22011